Sunday, July 20, 2025 · Starting at 11AM

DETROIT, MI — July 10, 2025 — Art Detroit Now, Detroit's weekly newsletter dedicated to contemporary visual artists and events, is launching Art Crawl: Grand Blvd & Beyond, a vibrant celebration of local creativity connecting art-curious neighbors, galleries, artists, and collectors. Taking place Sunday, July 20 beginning at 11am, the event highlights over 20 contemporary visual art spaces located along Grand Boulevard with featured exhibitions, artist talks, open studios, and a live art auction.

Visitors can expect a range of self-guided experiences, from pop-up brunch in galleries like Irwin House and Playground Detroit, a drop-in workshop at BULK Space, open studios at The Pioneer and artist talks at Mouse, Someday, Office Space, and Dabls MBAD Bead Museum—a cornerstone of west Grand Boulevard. Two recently unveiled City of Detroit Art Alleys—Grand River and North End Agri-Arts—are also along the route. The day will culminate from 4-7pm at Jam Handy with a Pop-Up Art Auction hosted by Detroit Fine Arts Breakfast Club (DFABC) including a lively conversation with local collectors on behalf of Henry Harper—longtime east Boulevard neighbor, collector, arts advocate. Art Crawl is a perfect opportunity for budding and established collectors to experience the energy of Detroit's emerging talent and invest in local arts.

Programming is staggered throughout the day, encouraging visitors to move between venues at a relaxed pace. Begin your day picking up a map, grabbing a water, and meeting local greeters at Art Detroit Now's Art Crawl Welcome Center, hosted at Jam Handy.

"Art Crawl is about showcasing the depth of the Boulevard's artistry in an approachable and celebratory way," says Danya Ensing, Director of Art Detroit Now. "We organized this event for our neighbors to discover new spaces, connect with local artists, and be a part of Detroit's creative ecosystem."
